Newly submitted claims 66-87 are directed to an invention that was non-elected with traverse in the response of April 30, 2007. Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally elected invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 66-87 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 89-101 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kearney et al (US 5466294), Hyoky et al (WO 96/10650), or Yukio et al (US 6379735).

Kearney et al teach a process for separating sugar beet juice into different components using chromatographic techniques as is claimed (see entire patent, especially column 7, lines 59-66 and the Figure).

Hyoky et al teach the fractionation of sucrose-containing solutions such as sugar beet using chromatographic techniques including multiple fractionations (see entire document, especially Table 5).

Yukio et al teach the fractionation of molasses (from sugar beet) using chromatography to obtain flavor components as is claimed (see entire patent, especially column 4, lines 10-22 and column 5, line 64 to column 6, line 11).

The prior art teaches the production of the same product using the same components. Flavor improvement would be no more than inherent and/or obvious to that of the prior art as the same components and process steps are used.

Claims 88-101 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Rapaport et al (US 4101338).

Rapaport et al teach the fractionation of molasses using chromatography, wherein the molasses is filtered prior to column separation (see entire patent, especially Examples XVI - XVIII).

The prior art teaches the production of the same product using the same components. Flavor improvement would be no more than inherent and/or obvious to that of the prior art as the same components and process steps are used.

Claims 88-101 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Heikkilä et al (US 6896811).

Heikkilä et al teach the fractionation of molasses using chromatography, wherein the molasses is filtered prior to column separation (see entire patent, especially Example 2).

The prior art teaches the production of the same product using the same components. Flavor improvement would be no more than inherent and/or obvious to that of the prior art as the same components and process steps are used.

Claims 88 and 90-101 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Madsen et al (US 4432806).

Madsen et al disclose the use of ultrafiltration for the extraction of sugar beet material (see entire patent).

The prior art teaches the production of the same product using the same components. Flavor improvement would be no more than inherent and/or obvious to that of the prior art as the same components and process steps are used.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
